The Birthday of Arkansas

came in the next January.

Arkansas has suffered more than any turned the system of loot and graft was kept alive by a ripping good tune for the average fiddler, and there may have been a backwoods prototype for the man who was so monumentally indifferent to patching his roof. But no State would care to be known to fame by the standard of its most shiftless citizen. Therefore Arkansas rebels against the other State because of a joke. "The Ar-Therefore Arkansas rebels against the Few of the States have more varied or abundant resources. The buckshot soil of the Mississippi bottoms in Arkansas produces cotton in almost incredible abundance. The western part of the State has as good corn land as may be found anywhere. The hills and mountains grow apples that cannot be beaten in the world for quality or quantity. Coal and zinc and lead underlie her hills in great abundance. Her forests have scarcel been touched by the ax, and there is a greater percentage of virgin timber here than in any other State.

were elected for the ensuing year: Presdent, Mr. and the Indians told him of a wenderful healing spring. They took him there, he bathed in its hot waters, and was much benefited. The Hot Springs of Arkansas are now a Federal reservation, and many thousands of persons go there each year in search of health. The Indians knew the cirtues of these springs, and from their tales the credulous Spaniards created the story of the Fountain of Eternal Youth. De Stoto died in Arkansas and was buried in the Mississippi or in the Arkansas River, near its mouth. That was in 1641, sixty-six years before the settlement of Jamestown.

Were elected for the ensuing year: Presdict, Mr. and the service president, Mr. patterson; recording secretary, Miss is deretary, Miss Burgdorf; corresponding secretary, Miss Bright; treasurer, Miss Murphy; delegates to District C. E. Union, Miss Ada Armstrong; planists, Miss Montrop and Mr. Wilson, A fund was started by the society for the furnishing of the new church, each member agreeing to put aside one penily a day for one year.

REV. G. C. F. BRATENAHL.

Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, rector of St. Alban's Protestant Episcopal Church came to Washington just ten years ago this month, and took up his duties with the institution with which he is still connected. St. Alban's was the first free church in Washington, and in addition is one of the oldest in the city. It is one of the best known churches in the District, because it is so closely associated with the proposed cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul which is to be erected near the same site as occupied by St. Alban's. The parish has never had a debt. Rev. Mr. Bratenahl came to Washington from St. Mary County, Md., where for a time he was rector of the All Saints' parish. Previous to that time Rev. Mr. Bratenahl was in business for himself. He is a graduate of Williams College, in Massachuseits, which he left in 1883. For several years he spent his time in business, and later took up the studies to prepare himself for the ministry.

Rev. Mr. Bratenahl is well known in Washington, where he has taken an active interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the Protestant Episcopal churches of the city. His home was formerly in Cleveland, Onlo. St. Alban's Church has three missions, all of which are under Rev. Mr. Bratenahl's charge. They are the St. David's. in Conduit road; St. Columba's, and St. George's. The assistant rectors of St. Alban's Church are Rev. James B. Craighill, J. Nellson Barry, vicer of St. Columba's, and Rev. Edward Douse, deacon of St. George's. The vestrymen of St. Alban's are as follows: James B. Nourse, Edward Brooke, James H. Taylor, James Ellerson, Robert S. Chew, F.
